World Police Summit Advisory Platform (WPSAP)

Global Expert Register

Beyond the CV.

Connecting world-class expertise across policing, defence, government, academia and industry.

Application — Verification and Assessment — Approved

THE ADVISORY PLATFORM

From Annual Summit to Year-Round Collaboration

The World Police Summit brings policing and security leaders together each year. The Advisory Platform keeps that collaboration going between summits.

The World Police Summit is an international forum where policing and security leaders share expertise, explore emerging challenges and strengthen cooperation.

The World Police Summit Advisory Platform (WPSAP) is a permanent, governance-led advisory and capability-building environment.

It connects trusted expertise with policing and security leaders throughout the year. It supports strategic advice, peer learning, benchmarking, professional development and research.

WPSAP operates under the auspices of the World Police Summit, with Dubai Police as its strategic anchor institution and oversight from a Platform Advisory Council.

ADVISORY BY DESIGN

WPSAP is advisory. It does not conduct law-enforcement operations, collect intelligence or exercise enforcement powers.

Its role is to support, not to direct. National sovereignty and operational command remain firmly with the respective authorities.

INTRODUCING

The Global Expert Register

A global register of vetted experts from policing, defence, government, academia and industry, independently assessed and approved.

The Global Expert Register is the first phase of the World Police Summit Advisory Platform (WPSAP), connecting expertise from policing, security, defence, government, academia and industry.

It connects organisations seeking trusted specialist advice with professionals offering operational experience, research and innovation.

What sets the Register apart is its rigorous assessment process. Beyond the CV, applicants undergo professional reference checks, due diligence and a structured interview before approval.

The result is a trusted global network of verified expertise, supporting international collaboration and capability development.

01

Multidisciplinary Expertise

Serving and former experienced professionals across policing, security, defence, government, academia and industry.

02

Structured Assessment

An eight-stage process, from expression of interest to approval decision.

03

Verified Expert Profiles

Each expert profile shows whether vetting has been cleared.

WHO IS AN EXPERT

Who Is An Expert?

Expertise is more than a job title. The register looks for depth, delivery and judgement.

The Register brings together highly experienced professionals from policing, security, defence, government, academia and industry. Members contribute specialist knowledge, operational experience, research and innovation to address complex policing and security challenges worldwide.

The register defines an expert as a professional with:

Depth 01

Demonstrable depth of specialist knowledge.

Delivery 02

Credible delivery experience.

Judgement 03

Sound judgement and the ability to apply expertise effectively.

Ethics 04

A commitment to ethical conduct and professional integrity.

Expertise may be shown through senior operational roles, professional qualifications, specialist achievements, research, published work, training or practical programme delivery.

Areas of expertise:

Policing and Law Enforcement
Serving and former police officers, senior leaders and specialist practitioners.

Academia and Research
Academics, researchers and specialists from universities, research and academic institutions.

Industry and Technology
Experienced professionals from organisations delivering specialist technology, security, defence, intelligence and consultancy services to government, policing and the military.

Military and Defence
Serving and former military personnel with expertise in security, strategic leadership, resilience, defence and related specialist disciplines.

Government and Public Institutions
Professionals from government departments, national security organisations, regulatory authorities and other relevant public bodies. Individual applicants will be subject to the Global Expert Register's structured assessment, verification and approval process.

WHY ASSESSMENT MATTERS

Why Assessment Matters

A CV shows what someone says they have done. On its own, it cannot show whether that experience is accurate, relevant or current.

When policing and security leaders look for advice, the source of that advice matters.

The Global Expert Register is built around that difference.

Declared Expertise

Based on what an individual chooses to submit.

A CV, a statement, a list of roles. Useful, but unverified on its own.

Assessed Expertise

- Credentials reviewed
- Two professional references
- Identity, background, conflict-of-interest and ethics checks
- A structured interview
- A formal approval decision

THE VETTING JOURNEY

From Applicant to Approved Expert

Approval follows a structured, eight-stage process.
A CV is where it begins, not where it ends.

Phase 1 - Application

Phase 2 - Verification

Phase 3 - Assessment and Decision

01

Expression of interest

Applicants state their professional background and specialist area.

02

CV submission

A current CV highlighting relevant roles, responsibilities and key achievements.

03

Professional credentials

Qualifications, accreditations, memberships and training are submitted.

04

Evidence of expertise

A short statement describes specialist experience and significant work.

05

Professional references

Applicants provide two professional referees.

06

Vetting and due diligence

Identity, background, conflict-of-interest and ethics checks are completed.

07

Professional interview

A structured assessment interview with suitable reviewers.

08

Approval and registration

A registration decision is made. Approved experts join the register.

Approved Expert!

Reading the line

Declared
Information provided by the applicant.

Checked
References, due diligence and interview.

Approved
A formal registration decision has been made.

AFTER APPROVAL

Continued inclusion may require continuing professional development (CPD) and periodic review.

Process shown as currently documented. Details may be refined as the platform develops.

05. The Vetting Journey

What Approval Means, and What It Does Not

Clear limits build trust as much as clear checks.

Approval Means

- The professional has completed the platform's assessment process.
- Their vetting status is shown on their profile.
- Continued inclusion may depend on CPD and periodic review.

Approval Does Not Mean

A guarantee of employment, commissions or accredited status.

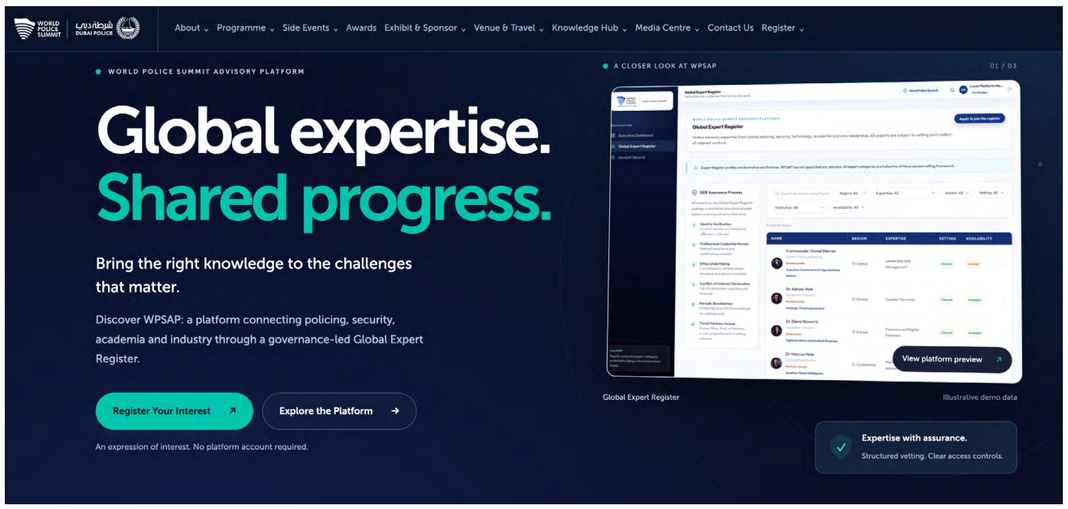

Vetting is overseen through the platform's governance arrangements, including the Platform Advisory Council.

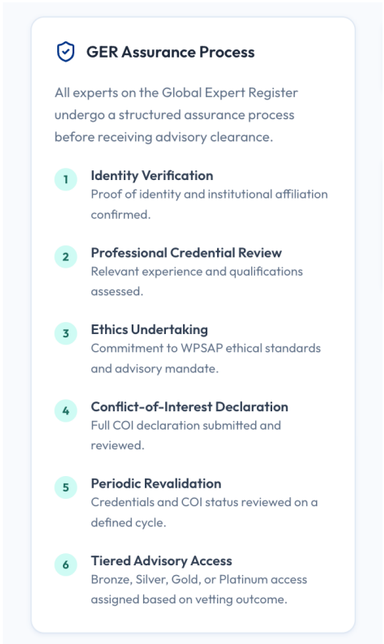

For Experts

Approved experts may have opportunities to contribute to international collaboration, strategic task forces, leadership development, research, training and knowledge exchange.

Inside the Register

Each approved expert has a clear, consistent profile.

Every Profile Shows

- Name
- Region
- Workplace
- Expertise available
- Vetting status
- Availability

The register is currently available as a demonstration.

Access will be opened to users in a future phase.

Connecting Expertise with Global Organisations

The World Police Summit Advisory Platform is designed to connect recognised experts with organisations seeking specialist advice, independent insight, research, training and capability development.

The Platform aims to support:

- Police forces and international law enforcement agencies.
- Military and defence organisations.
- Government departments, ministries and public sector institutions.
- Universities, academic institutions and research organisations.
- Defence, security and technology companies supporting government, policing and military operations.
- Specialist industry partners seeking expertise, collaboration and innovation.

By connecting expertise across the public sector, academia and private industry, the Platform aims to strengthen international collaboration, accelerate innovation and support better-informed strategic decision-making.

Upcoming Features

The Global Expert Register is the first part of a wider Advisory Platform. The features on this page are in development and are not yet available.

Together, they are intended to extend WPSAP from a register of expertise into a year-round environment for advice, learning and collaboration.
